ABSTRACT

The Idea of WSEP (Whatsapp Status emotion prediction) using whatsapp sudden came In my mind. Can we save lives using social media as everyone blaming social media, and especially the Depression is a common mental disorder. Globally, it is estimated that 5.0% of adults suffer from depression. Depression is a leading cause of disability worldwide and is a major contributor to the overall global burden of disease. More women are affected by depression than men. Depression can lead to suicide. Approx. 300 million people experience Depression according to who in 2017. now days everyone is using social media, according to Kepiosanalysis 4.55 Billion social media users around the world in October in 2021, 57.6 percent of total global population and according to Backlinko.com approx. 2 Billion active user on whatsapp and continuously increasing with a rapid rate. And

This study reveals that respondents post mostly advertisement on how they can get their goods and services market followed by religious beliefs, motivational words and feeling of happiness. the usage among young people especially those aged 20-25 years and 26-30 years are high. These age group regularly post on their WhatsApp status. Majority of the post on WhatsApp status is meant to keep in touch with contacts and update them with current happenings or situations [1].

So according to the above study we conclude that's a large amount of population use whatsapp and every one like to put their status and so our plan is to take their text form status from whatsapp and process it with the help of a ML Classifier model and predict the behaviour of a particular person and so it to other person so they can handle the situation

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Success in life is never attained single handedly. My deepest gratitude goes to my thesis supervisor, Ms. Neelam Rawat for his guidance, help and encouragement throughout my research work. Their enlightening ideas, comments, and suggestions.

Words are not enough to express my gratitude to Dr. Ajay Kumar Shrivastava, Professor and Head, Department of Computer Applications, for his insightful comments and administrative help at various occasions.

Fortunately, I have many understanding friends, who have helped me a lot on many critical conditions.

Finally, my sincere thanks go to my family members and all those who have directly and indirectly provided me moral support and other kind of help. Without their support, completion of this work would not have been possible in time. They keep my life filled with enjoyment and happiness.

1.1 Project Description

The Idea of WSEP (WhatsApp Status emotion prediction) using WhatsApp sudden came in my mind. Can we save lives using social media as everyone blaming social media, and especially the Depression is a common mental disorder? Globally, it is estimated that 5.0% of adults suffer from depression. Depression is a leading cause of disability worldwide and is a major contributor to the overall global burden of disease. More women are affected by depression than men. Depression can lead to suicide. Approx. 300 million people experience Depression according to who in 2017. now days everyone is using social media, according to Kepiosanalysis 4.55 billion [1] social media users around the world in October in 2021, 57.6 percent of total global population and according to Backlinko.com [2] approx. 2 billion active users on WhatsApp and continuously increasing with a rapid rate.[3]

Target Audience and Literature Review

Our main target Audience is the young age people (from teen age to the near about 45 years). Because according to the study the more than 300 million peoples are in depression and depression can cause of death (suicide) and the most important important thing is the Second Cause of death is Suicide among 10 to 34 ages.

1.2 Product Scope

This software can be useful for any one because you don't want to take any blame on yourself for someone loss, and this software will help you in saving life, and this software can be use by Parents, friends or anyone.

1.3 Overall Description

Product Perspective

Our web Application python script will run and then open the WhatsApp web Application and the fetch all the text status from the WhatsApp web and then send all the data into a ML classifier and the ML classifier will process those and produce an output on the basis of those output whether the person is angry or sad or happy.

• Backend: Pyhon, ML, Selenium

Chapter-2 FESIABILITY STUDY

A feasibility study is a high-level capsule version of the entire System analysis and Design Process. The study begins by classifying the problem definition. Feasibility is to determine if it's worth doing. Once an acceptance problem definition has been generated, the analyst develops a logical model of the system. A search for alternatives is analyzed carefully. There are 3 parts in feasibility study.

2.1 TECHNICAL FESIABILITY

This involves questions such as whether the technology needed for the system exists, how difficult it will be to build, and whether the firm has enough experience using that technology. The assessment is based on outline design of system requirements in terms of input, processes, output, fields, programs and procedures. This can be qualified in terms of volume of data, trends, frequency of updating inorder to give an introduction to the technical system. The application is the fact that it has been developed on windows XP platform and a high configuration of 1GB RAM on Intel Pentium Dual core processor. This is technically feasible .The technical feasibility assessment is focused on gaining an understanding of the present technical resources of the organization and their applicability to the expected needs of the proposed system. It is an evaluation of the hardware and software and how it meets the need of the proposed system.

2.2 OPERATIONAL FESIABILITY

Operational feasibility is the measure of how well a proposed system solves the problems, and takes advantage of the opportunities identified during scope definition and how it satisfies the requirements identified in the requirements analysis phase of system development. The operational feasibility assessment focuses on the degree to which the proposed development projects fits in with the existing business environment and objectives with regard to development schedule, delivery date, corporate culture and existing business processes. To ensure success, desired operational outcomes must be imparted during design and development. These include such design-dependent parameters as reliability, maintainability, supportability, usability, producibility, disposability, sustainability, affordability and others. These parameters are required to be considered at the early stages of design if desired operational behaviours are to be realised. A system design and development requires appropriate and timely application of engineering and management efforts to meet the previously mentioned parameters.

A system may serve its intended purpose most effectively when its technical and operating characteristics are engineered into the design. Therefore, operational feasibility is a critical aspect of systems engineering that needs to be an integral part of the early design phases.

2.3 BEHAVIORAL FESIABILITY

Establishing the cost-effectiveness of the proposed system i.e. if the benefits do not outweigh the costs then it is not worth going ahead. In the fast paced world today there is a great need of online social networking facilities. Thus the benefits of this project in the current scenario make it economically feasible. The purpose of the economic feasibility assessment is to determine the positive economic benefits to the organization that the proposed system will provide. It includes quantification and identification of all the benefits expected. This assessment typically involves a cost/benefits analysis

3.1 FLOW CHART

Flowchart is a graphical representation of an algorithm. Programmers often use it as a program-planning tool to solve a problem. It makes use of symbols which are connected among them to indicate the flow of information and processing.

The process of drawing a flowchart for an algorithm is known as "flowcharting".

Basic Symbols used in Flowchart Designs

1. Terminal: The oval symbol indicates Start, Stop and Halt in a program's logic flow. A pause/halt is generally used in a program logic under some error conditions. Terminal is the first and last symbols in the flowchart.

2. Input/Output: A parallelogram denotes any function of input/output type. Program instructions that take input from input devices and display output on output devices are indicated with parallelogram in a flowchart.

3 Processing: A box represents arithmetic instructions. All arithmetic processes such as adding, subtracting, multiplication and division are indicated by action or process symbol.

4 Decision Diamond symbol represents a decision point. Decision based operations such as yes/no question or true/false are indicated by diamond in flowchart.

5 Connectors: Whenever flowchart becomes complex or it spreads over more than one page, it is useful to use connectors to avoid any confusions. It is represented by a circle.

6 Flow lines: Flow lines indicate the exact sequence in which instructions are executed. Arrows represent the direction of flow of control and relationship among different symbols of flowchart.

3.1 Use Case Diagram

In the Unified Modeling Language (UML), a use case diagram can summarize the details of your system's users (also known as actors) and their interactions with the system. To build one, you'll use a set of specialized symbols and connectors. An effective use case diagram can help your team discuss and represent:

- Scenarios in which your system or application interacts with people, organizations, or external systems
- Goals that your system or application helps those entities (known as actors) achieve

Use case diagram components

To answer the question, "What is a use case diagram?" you need to first understand its building blocks. Common components include:

- 7 Actors: The users that interact with a system. An actor can be a person, an organization, or an outside system that interacts with your application or system. They must be external objects that produce or consume data.
- 8 System: A specific sequence of actions and interactions between actors and the system. A system may also be referred to as a scenario.
- 9 Goals: The end result of most use cases. A successful diagram should describe the activities and variants used to reach the goal.

Use case diagram symbols and notation

The notation for a use case diagram is pretty straightforward and doesn't involve as many types of symbols as other UML diagrams.

Use cases: Horizontally shaped ovals that represent the different uses that a user might have.

- 10 Actors: Stick figures that represent the people actually employing the use cases.
- 11 Associations: A line between actors and use cases. In complex diagrams, it is important to know which actors are associated with which use cases.
- 12 System boundary boxes: A box that sets a system scope to use cases. All use cases outside the box would be considered outside the scope of that system. For example, Psycho Killer is outside the scope of occupations in the chainsaw example found below.
- 13 Packages: A UML shape that allows you to put different elements into groups. Just as with component diagrams, these groupings are represented as file folders.

- In this use case diagram we are assuming both actor already loge din into the WhatsApp web
- In this user case diagram there are two actor ACTOR 1, ACTOR 2, the actor one can login the WhatsApp web and check the status or actor one can open the status fetcher app and the status fetcher app will automatically open the WhatsApp web and then script fetch the text form data from the WhatsApp web.
- And then the fetched data will transfer into the machine learning algos and the after process it will passed to the web application
- That will show the process output
- And actor 2 will open the WhatsApp web and the put a WhatsApp status or see the WhatsApp status

Assumptions and Dependencies

- 1. Use emojis in WhatsApp status
- 2. Now prediction on audio and video or Image.
- 3. Require WhatsApp login to get results
- 4. Require WhatsApp status in text format

Chapter 6 Testing

6.1 Test Case-1

Enter you words

I AM NOT FEELING GOOD TODAY

Dictionary with 3 highest values:

Keys: Values

Happy : 0.5

Sad : 0.5

Angry : 0.0

Enter you words

I AM NOT FEELING GOOD TODAY
```

6.2 Test Case-2

```
Enter you words i want to run away {'Happy': 0.0, 'Angry': 1.0, 'Surprise': 0.0, 'Sad': 0.0, 'Fear': 0.0}
```

6.3 Test Case-3

CHAPTER 7: ADVANTAGES

- Easy To use
- Time Saving
- Life Saving
- Cost Efficient
- Makes Relationships Stronger
- Helps Researchers in understanding the human behaviour

CHAPTER 8: CONCLUSION

CONCLUSION At last it can be concluded that the WhatsApp mood Recoginition System was a real learning experience. The principles of software production were well implemented throughout the system. The whole project undergoes with full of enthusiasm and with full of joyous moments. The project has been made as per as the given specification. The system has been made as user friendly. That is why Management holds an important place in the software production. Working on the Project was really a learning experience and we have come a long way in building our concepts of Software engineering. The overall purpose of this system is to computerized the whole process and thus prevent the intervening errors. we have gone through many obstacles which made us to research and though increased our knowledge. After applying all the data modelling, object modelling and process modelling techniques now we are very well clear with all these concepts and fundamentals which will be going to help us in the future.
